DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The preamble of claim 1 recites "A gambling cards comprising:". This is indefinite. What exactly is being claimed, "A method of playing a card game comprising the steps of:" or "An apparatus for playing a card game comprising:"? Correction is required.

Claim 5 is indefinite. It only recites "A game board for playing a card game according to claim 1". No other physical structure is recited. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Richardson.

The patent to Richardson discloses a method of playing a card game comprising providing a game board 10, and a standard pack of 52 playing cards. To play

Richardson's game, each player places an initial or "ante" bet, col. 3, lines 56-57. A player may decide to bet "high". If a player decides to bet "high", that player is betting that at least one of the player's cards matches the dealer's card, "E" card, in suit and exceeds it in value, col. 3, line 59 to col. 4, line 6. Each player is then dealt a hand of "preferably three cards" and the dealer is dealt a single card (E card), col. 4, lines 7-19. Each player may increase their initial bet by a multiple, "raise", col. 4, lines 33-56. If the player bet "high", and if the player received a card that matches the dealer's "E" card in suit, and exceeds it in value, dealer pays out the player. Each player can make a further bet, at the same odds as the chosen multiple, if their hand consists wholly of court cards "straight flush", col. 5, lines 21-40.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Richardson as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Lott.

The patent to Lott teaches that it is known in card games that are typically played on a game board table, to alternatively provide a computer based version of the card game for play over the Internet. In view of such teaching, it would have been obvious to provide a computer-based version of Richardson's game for play over the Internet. This modification would have made Richardson's game accessible to more players.

The patents to Laurretta et al. and Bucan disclose card games wherein players place bets that cards in their hand match cards in the dealer's hand.
